Call to Worship (Isaiah 51:7-8) & Opening prayer

[7] “Listen to Me, you who know righteousness, the people in whose heart is My law; fear not the reproach of man, nor be dismayed at their revilings.

[8] For the moth will eat them up like a garment, and the worm will eat them like wool, but My righteousness will be forever, and My salvation to all generations.”

Father God, we thank You that we have gathered here today to hear from You. We thank You that You are the Mighty God of Creation, yet You are close at hand, and You speak to Your people as individuals.

You are also the God of Love and Redemption, sending Your Only Son to take our place, to save us from our sins and grant us Your righteousness.

We thank You that Jesus came down to show us Your love in flesh-and-blood ways that we could not overlook. Now we know that Righteousness is not of our own making but has come from Heaven and is as eternal as Your salvation.

We ask that You might strengthen us to resist temptation, that You would help us to keep our ears open, and soften our hearts to take in Your Word, and live it out every day, in a world which does not want to hear You but still wants to know about righteousness.

Lead us, we pray, as we sing Your praises, hear Your Word and encourage one another to “know the Lord.”

In Jesus Name we pray, Amen.
